PRODUCTS OR MACHINERY

Producer of Laminated Windscreens

Curved products of any kind required by customers' projects can be manufactured in the Armass Glass® premises. After being designed by the 3D computer-aided design software, products are bent in accordance with their projects in the on-site molding room. Armass Glass® has an extensive archive of molds due to its years of experience and hundreds of projects accomplished. The molds in the archive are reutilized for orders with the same specifications when needed. Curved materials prepared by the staff of specialists using the state-of-the-art glass cutting machines and exclusive kilns are transformed into the end products by a carefully adjusted measuring system. The end products are then ready to be mounted after passing all the phases of quality control.
