PRODUCTS OR MACHINERY

Recycled Glass Aggregates and Post-Consumer Glass Powder Fillers & Pozzolan

Strategic Materials largest business is its Glass Processing Division. The Glass Processing Division collects both post-industrial and post-consumer scrap glass and processes it into a raw material called "cullet." The cullet is then primarily sold to glass container and fiberglass manufacturers for use as a raw material in their glass production processes. We operate a network of 31 processing plants and aggregation depots across the US, Canada, and Mexico under the name Strategic Materials

Strategic Materials sells approximately 2.0 million tons of glass cullet each year. Strategic has an outstanding reputation in terms of product quality, customer service and integrity. We collect scrap glass from a diverse range of sources, extending from residential collection programs to bottle and plate glass manufacturers.
