PRODUCTS OR MACHINERY

The large range of applications of our products lead us to get involved regularly in numerous new developments, by using, in particular new techniques or by collaborating directly with certain of our customers who wish to adapt some of our products to their specific needs.

Among the targeted markets, we can mention the glass and ceramic industry, the foundry, the construction, the sport fields, the water filtration, the painting, the rubber industry, etc...

Generally speaking, three categories of products can be distinguished:

- the feldspatic sands
- the silica sands
- the potassium feldspars

The experience acquired by INCUSA over the years in the elaboration of its products along with a continuous control of its products contribute to strengthen every day the confidence of its customers in its know-how.
