Screen Printed Wine Bottles (also known as ACL, Direct Printed Bottles or Decorated Bottles) offer a significant point of difference in wine packaging.

Direct print has those premium cues that consumers associate with luxury products.

Contrary to popular misconceptions, screen printed bottles can provide savings depending on the configuration of the package. Ultra low volumes are often much more economical than tooling up for a short run of labels. While larger volume runs benefit from the high speeds bottling lines can run at with screen printed bottles and no roll changes.
