COMPANY BACKGROUND / HISTORY

VDMA, the German Engineering Federation is service provider, industry representative and communicator for 3,000 companies of the German engineering industry. Via its Forum Glass Technology representing 60 mainly small and medium-sized companies of the glass machinery sector, VDMA is conceptual sponsor of glasstec.

German manufacturers are leaders when it comes to future-oriented technologies or the delivery of systems and full-service solutions from one source. They offer the international glass industry the full range of engineering technology for the manufacturing, treatment, finishing, transportation or packaging of glass, measuring devices and quality control systems included.

VDMA provides business contacts, market and industry information and is the point of contact for questions or information on the German glass machinery sector.
