Over the years, our research and development team has developed a wide range of kilns and machineries in close collaboration with our customers covering applications in glass, ceramics, laboratory and heat treatment of metals. Our standard for each single product is perfection and quality. None of our kilns and machineries leave our plant without having been checked on quality and safety. We attach great importance to the usability of our products. This is how we meet our customers' requirements in the best possible way.
